Building Strong Hands for Fine-Motor Skills

Bright Futures faculty and staff utilize data in order to understand the individual needs of our students. This week, our Data Wall will go up in the gym. Data from student observations revealed that our students need to improve their Fine-Motor Skills in order to be able to write their names.

There are numerous activities that can be done at home with children in order to strengthen the small muscles of the hands. These activities involve using materials that provide resistance. Clay, silly putty, and play-doh are excellent materials for squeezing, squishing, pushing, pulling and molding.

Children need strong hands and writing practice!
