Kindergarten Readiness

Preparing for kindergarten is an important topic for many parents. The rigors of a full day in kindergarten requires a child to sit for long periods of time, as well as be coordinated and work well with other children. It is important children starting kindergarten are able to focus on given tasks, follow directions and interact well with others. I have listed below other helpful hints for parents:

Concept Development – read with your child.

Physical Development – play outside, go to the park.

Social & Emotional Development – have friends over to play.

Number Concept – practice counting objects.

Language – ask them questions.

Writing – practice using pencils and writing their name.

Reading – know the alphabet and recognize small words.

TOOLS FOR TRIUMPH – Show Respect! Respect other student’s comments, opinions, and ideas.
